The Protestant Episcopal Convention.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, October 15.—In the Episcopal Convention, yesterday, the subject of the change of name from Convention to that of Council, was finally indefinitely postponed by the casting vote of the President.

A message was received from the House of Bishops, non-concurring in the action of the House of Deputies in regard to the resolutions on Church unity introduced by Rev. Dr. Meade, of Connecticut, and expressing their willingness to have a Committee of Conference. A Committee of Conference of three clergymen and three laymen was ordered.

The Triennial Report of the Trustees of the General Theological Seminary was presented and referred. It shows the assets to be $350,500; liabilities, $938 65; surplus, $256,635. The estimated expenses of the fiscal year are $17,300; estimated income, $15,000.

Rev. Samuel Clements, of Ohio, offered a resolution for a joint committee to consider the canons relating to admission to the ministry, with a view to making their meaning more obvious and rendering access more difficult to unsuitable persons, and providing that the committee on the part of the House should be the Committee on Canons. Adopted.

At to-day's session, Rev. Dr. Pitkin, from Committee on New Dioceses, reported an amended resolution creating and admitting the new diocese of Western New York, which was adopted.

The Bishop of Fredericktown was introduced to the Convention.

Rev. Dr. Many, of Minnesota, from the special committee appointed at last Convention to prepare a report upon the provincial system, read an essay in favor of it. It divides the Church in the United States into six provifces. The first, the province of New England; second, the province of Atlantic, to consist of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware; the third, the province of Michigan, to consist of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin; the fourth, the province of Allegheny, to consist of Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee and Maryland; the fifth, the province of Alabama, to consist of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi; the sixth, the province of Mississippi, to consist of California, Texas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Minnesota. The senior Bishop of each province shall be the primate thereof, and there shall be a Synod in each province and of a clerical and lay deputation from each Diocese.

The report was accompanied by the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the canon on the subdivision of the Church of the United States into six provinces, proposed at last General Convention, be referred to a special committee of five, to consider and perfect and report to this Convention for adoption.

Resolved, That on and after the adoption of the canon forming several provinces out of the present one, this General Convention of the Church shall be known by the name and title of the "National Synod."

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to draft a new Constitution for the National Church and report to this Convention, in order to be submitted to the several Dioceses for consideration.

The resolutions were ordered to be printed, and the report and resolutions were referred to a special committee of five, who were ordered to report upon them at the present Convention.

Rev. Dr. Haight, from the Committee on Canons, reported a resolution in favor of concurring in the amendment proposed by the House of Bishops to section two, canon ten, title one, so that the same shall read as follows: "And if such foreign clergyman be a deacon, he shall reside in this country at least one year, and obtain the requisite testimonials of character before he be ordained a priest."

The report was laid on the table for further consideration.

Rev. Mr. Haight, from the same Committee, reported in favor of a new canon in lieu of section five, canon thirteen, title one, and on his own motion, was laid on the table.

The same gentleman reported in favor of a new canon, to be entitled "Canon on consecration of Churches." It forbids the consecration of any edifice to purposes of divine worship by any Bishop unless he is satisfied that the building is free from debt, the use of such building be not for purposes other than those to which it is dedicated, and being taken down without the consent of the Bishop of the diocese.

On motion of Mr. Haight, the report was laid on the table.

The Chairman announced the following delegates as comprising the Committee on Conference, on the unity of the Church: Rev. W. Cooper Mead, Connecticut; Rev. B. J. Haight, New York; Rev. Wm. Pinkney, Maryland; L. B. Otis, Illinois; J. Bodwell Doe, Wisconsin; Edward McCrady, South Carolina.

On motion of Dr. Haight, the Convention took up the Committee on Canons, to whom were referred several memorials praying for an amendment or repeal of the third clause of article five of the Constitution, and who reported the following resolutions:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the alteration of the constitution, together with the amendment of the canons recommended in the succeeding resolution, be proposed, and that the same be made known to the several diocesian conventions in pursuance of article ninth of the constitution.

Resolved, That article fifth of the constitution be amended as follows: first, by adding to the second clause of said article the following words: "And such consent shall not be given by the General Convention until satisfactory assurance of a suitable provision for the support of the Episcopate in the contemplated diocese shall have been given and accepted;" second, by striking out all of the third clause except the words: "No city shall form more than one diocese;" third, by inserting the words "or more" between the words "two" and "dioceses" in the first line of the fourth clause; fourth, by inserting the words "or more" between the words "two" and "Dioceses," in the first line of the fifth clause, and by striking out the word "two" before the word "Dioceses" in the third line, so that the article shall read as follows: A Protestant Episcopal Church in any part of United States or any Territory not now present may at any time hereafter be admitted according to this Constitution, and a new Diocese to be formed from one or more Dioceses, may be admitted under the following restrictions: No new Diocese shall be formed or erected within the limits of any other Diocese, nor shall any Dioceses or part of a Diocese unless with the consent of the Bishops of the Convention of each of the Dioceses concerned, as well as of the General Convention, and such consent shall not be given by the General Convention until satisfactory assurances of a suitable provision for the support of the Episcopate in the contemplated new Diocese shall have been given and accepted. No city shall form more than one Diocese in case one Diocese shall be divided into two or more Dioceses, the Diocesian of the Diocese divided may elect the one to which he will be attached, and shall, therefore, become the Diocesian thereof, and the assistant bishop may elect the one to which he will be attached, and if not then elected by the bishop he shall be the Diocesian thereof. Whenever a division of a Diocese, into two or more Dioceses, shall be ratified by the General Convention each of the Dioceses shall be subject to the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese divided, except as local conventions, may prevent until the same may be altered in either Diocese by the Convention thereof; and whenever a Diocese shall be formed out of two or more existing Dioceses the new Diocese shall be subject to the Constitution and Canons of that one of the existing Dioceses to which the greater number of clergymen shall have belonged prior to the election of such new Diocese until the same may be altered by the Convention of the new Diocese; and, further resolved, that the following be adopted as a new Canon to section 4, canon 6, title 3: No new Diocese shall be formed which shall contain less than six parishes, or less than six Presbyteries who have been at one year canonically residents within the bounds of such Diocese, regularly settled in a parish therein, and qualified to vote for a bishop. Nor shall any new Diocese formed of thereby an existing Diocese shall be reduced so as to contain less than thirty parishes or less than twenty Presbyteries, who have been residing and settled and qualified as above by order of the Committee.

WM. COOPER MEAD, Chairman.

The report was debated until the hour of adjournment; some attempts at amendment having, in the meantime, been rejected, and others ruled out of order.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

NORFOLK, VA., October 15.—The Opera House was crowded this morning by delegates to the Commercial Convention, and a large audience of citizens. General Mahone presided and intense interest was manifested. The Business Committee submitted a report, which stated that the recommendations of the Bristol Convention, held July 16th, 1868, between Europe and Norfolk, and the Mississippi and Ohio Valley, had been considered, and that a recommendation be adopted by the present Convention, proposing a subscription of three hundred thousand dollars to be immediately made to incorporate the International Commercial Company of the City of New York, under the act of the General Assembly of Virginia.

The Committee's report expresses pleasure at the interest manifested by the various North and Northwestern States, in a water line of communication between the valley of the Mississippi and the Atlantic Ocean, by way of the Ohio, Kanawha and James rivers, and in view of its importance the Convention looked hopefully forward to its speedy completion as a great improvement of national importance.

The Express Robbers—Attempt to Escape.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, October 15.—The authorities of the Adams Express Company, in this city, are advised that an attempt was made yesterday morning, by the Adams Express robbers, Reno and Anderson, to break the jail in which they are confined awaiting extradition. Word was carried to Allen Pinkerton, then at Windsor, who, with Justice M'Micken, proceeded to the jail. The prisoners had displaced a portion of the floor, and could have escaped but for the vigilance of the Dominion police. On their return a carriage was driven rapidly past the party, and a man inside attempted to shoot Pinkerton, but failed. On crossing the ferry to Detroit, the same man stepped up to Pinkerton, placing a pistol at his head. He immediately seized the assassin, threw him to the ground, disarmed and handed him over to the police. He gave his name as Geo. Johnson, and says he intended to kill Pinkerton. He is held to bail in $20,000.

The Canadian Government hesitates to deliver Reno and Anderson for fear they will get hurt on this side.

Petroleum Looks Up.

Napoleon seems determined to avail himself of the aid of Science when it is employed to utilize ordinary instruments for the common good, by which convenience and economy are obtained. Foreign journals report with minuteness a trip which he lately made in a railway locomotive on the Strasburg line to Chalons, and some of the picture papers have illustrated the incident. Monsieur Deville, a man of very inventive and practical genius, had discovered that petroleum might be advantageously used in the furnaces of railway locomotives as a safe and saving substitute for coal, coke, or wood. Accordingly, to test his discovery, he was commissioned to attach the improved furnace to a railway engine. The Emperor placed himself in the tender next to the engineer and watched the operations of the engine during the journey from Chalons to the camp, the petroleum in a state of ignition, the degree of which could be increased or lessened at will with ease and certainty, and the trial trip was most successful. The petroleum thus employed emitted neither smoke nor smell, and it is said that explosion is rendered impossible. It is not the ordinary volatile mineral oil, but a semi-fluid and viscous substance, technically known as "heavy oil." If this discovery be generally adopted, a new, large, and steady demand for our petroleum must arise, and there will be for this country a practical answer to the question, "What can railway locomotives do for fuel when all the wood is burned up?"—Phil. Press.

AN "OLD MAN'S DARLING."—Mr. Seward's marriage is fully announced. His bride is to be Miss Olive ——, a lady not above twenty-five or twenty-seven years of age. She is noted here for her stately figure, large and almost masculine in hight and fullness. Her eyes are dark, and her intelligence is remarkable. She will probably make the most agreeable lady in Washington society that we have had since Mrs. Madison. She hails from Chatauqua county, New York, where Seward lived at one time, about twelve years before she was born, and a year before he became Governor of the Commonwealth. He is lonely in his great establishments here and at Auburn, and being an amiable, sportive, frisky, foxy, and infatuating man of fame and place, who would not marry him that was ambitious and the daughter of a politician? This marriage is indorsed by both families, and by Mr. Seward's mother-in-law, who called the young bridegroom to her bedside and bade him be happy. So says the country that he has served so well and helped so largely to civilize.—Washington Letter.

AT the divorce trial of the famous cantatrice, Madame Gueymard, to whom the Grand Opera of Paris paid ninety thousand francs a year, the lawyer of her husband stated that she had been married four times before, and that none of her husbands had been able to live with her. He admitted that his client had repeatedly horsewhipped her, but he claimed that there was absolutely no other way of managing her. The husband, it was proved in court, one evening locked the door of his dressing-room and whipped her for five minutes. She did not utter a scream, but went immediately after on the stage and sung her part as if nothing had happened.

EUROPEAN PERSONAL GOSSIP.

A GERMAN in the United States has sent portraits of Grant and Colfax to Bismark, whose son has written the German a letter in which he thanks him in his father's name, and tells him that the present was exceedingly agreeable to the Count.

ALEXANDER DUMAS is at work upon a new edition of his "Life of Christ." He has recently admitted that he wrote several chapters of the Memoirs of Sanson, the French executioner, of which one hundred thousand copies were sold in France.

KATKOFF, the editor-in-chief of the Moscow Gazette, receives a salary of ten thousand silver rubles, and lives in a house which the proprietors of the paper have placed at his disposal. Next to the Emperor he is considered the most influential man in Russia.

"A PRUSSIAN and citizen of Bordeaux," says the Charivari, "were talking yesterday afternoon, at the Cafe Riche, about the new improved fire arms. 'Our needle gun is by far better than your Chassepot rifle,' repeated the subject of King Bismark, with great obstinacy. 'My dear sir,' exclaimed the impatient Gascon, "I see very plainly that you do not know anything about the Chassepot rifle. All you have to do is to load it on Sunday, and you can fire it all the week."

WILKIE COLLINS has been challenged to fight a duel by M. Crisafulli, manager of the Parisian Gaite Theatre. Wilkie Collins did not want the "Woman in White" to be played at Crisafulli's theatre, and as Grisafulli paid no attention to his wishes, Collins wrote a letter to the Figaro, in which he called Crisafulli "Ce monsieur." "Ce monsieur," in Parisian French, means as much as "that miserable rascal;" and so Crisfulli wants to get a chance to run a sword through the body of the English novelist.

LEDRU-ROLLIN says, in a letter to the Siecle, that so far as his career as a member of the provisional government of 1848 is concerned, he regrets nothing so much as that he allowed Lamartine to persuade him not to to publish, as he intended to do, the names, salaries and character of the secret police spies that had been employed by the French Government from 1815 to 1848. He says that nearly every spy employed by the police of the Bourbons and of Louis Philippe was employed again by Louis Napoleon.

THE editor of the St. Petersburg Gazette advertises for contributions. Articles on political and literary subjects of general interest will be welcomed; they may be written in Russian, German, French or English; he offers to pay twenty dollars for each printed sheet, and to make permanent arrangements with authors whose contributions he likes. It should be borne in mind that the Russian papers and magazines are always hard run for original articles, there being very few Russian authors who care to write for periodicals.

A FRENCH peasant, having a troublesome wife, resolved to sell her. He brought her to a fair, not in the old-fashioned way, with a rope about her waist, but on horseback, put up both horse and woman at two hundred francs, and "knocked them down" to an enterprising purchaser, excepting a new pair of shoes he had bought for his wife to show off her pretty feet. The notary of the town having flatly refused to draft a legal receipt, the high contracting parties retired to a public house, prepared their own deed, had it duly tested, and finished up by drinking several cups of kindness for auld lang syne.

A young lady of high family in Paris was some time ago spiritually possessed by the influence of a knight of the old days, under whose compulsion she rose from her bed at night and spent long hours in writing involuntary rhapsodies to herself. Her ghostly admirer wore her out with his unseasonable attentions, compelling her fingers to sketch his portrait, the place where he lived, his grave, and even to draw a picture of the wound which let his life out through his skull. At length the doctor recommended travel, and the girl was taken to Sicily. There the possession seemed to leave her, until, one morning, she was found dead on a mound said by the peasantry to be haunted by the ghost of a knight slain during the catastrophe of the Sicilian Vespers.

HENRY NOO, an Austrian author, relates in his recent work, "The Spring of Meran," a little love story, the hero of which is no other than Count Bismark. About the year 1840, he says, the proprietor of the Mitterbad, at Ulten, in the Tyrol, was a man named Holzner, who had a daughter Josepha, a most beautiful and graceful girl. Among the guests of the watering place was a German nobleman, who visited the place several years in succession, and frequented the Mitterbad every day. His name was Otto von Bismark Schonhausen. He was about thirty years old, and a tall, fine-looking young man. He was soon on very cordial terms with the beautiful Josepha, and, when he was unable to see her personally, he sent her notes, to which she always replied. He was head over ears in love with the lovely girl, and finally offered her his heart and hand. She told him she would gladly take him; but her father refused to entertain any proposals from a Protestant. Josepha grieved very much, but married, a few years afterward an Austrian functionary; but died in the year after her wedding.

M. DE SARTIGES, who was recently appointed Senator of the Empire, and who represented France a long time at Washington and Mexico, is the son of a lady whose history was about the same as that of Enoch Arden's wife. She was married to an officer of the navy, who left her one morning and never came back to her. Twelve months afterward she learned that her poor husband had perished in a storm off the Antilles, and in a few weeks she received an official certificate that he was dead. A few years afterward she married M. de Sartiges, a very wealthy nobleman, descended from an ancient family, with whom she lived very happily. One day M. and Mme. de Sartiges went to the theatre in Lyons, where an opera was performed, and took front seats in a proscenium box. The house was crowded, and M. de Sartiges was requested by the manager to permit a stranger to seat himself in the box. When the performance was over, Mme. de Sartiges rose, and upon recognizing the stranger, uttered a piercing cry and fainted away. She had to be carried to her hotel. Next day the stranger asked an interview with M. de Sartiges. He told him he was the first husband of Mme. Sartiges, but assured him that no trouble should arise in consequence. He returned immediately to America, where he had lived in the meantime, and married there the daughter of a Philadelphia merchant.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE TRAMP, TRAMP, OF THE TANNERS.

AIR—Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching.

In our homes we sat in peace,
Thinking strife and trouble done,
And that traitors would be once more loyal men;
But we've heard a warning sound
Since the campaign has begun,
And we're marching out to battle once again.

CHORUS.

Tramp, Tramp, Tramp,
The Tanners are marching,
Cheer up, Southern loyal men,
And beneath the Tanner's torch
You shall see the loyal North
Rout the Copperheads and rebels once again.

When we granted terms of peace,
Giving life and pardon, too,
We believed the South had had enough of war;
But the traitors march again,
Just as they once used to do,
'Neath the rebel "flag that bears a single star."
CHORUS—Tramp, tramp, tramp, &c.

Let us rally from the city,
From the mountain and the plain,
And united vote for Grant and Colfax, too,
So that all the world may see
That the country's right again,
And is strong in spite of all that traitors do.
CHORUS—Tramp, tramp, tramp, &c.

When the White House changes hands,
And our General takes command,
And our marching days and nights are fully o'er,
We will lay our torches by,
And uniting hand in hand,
Swear the Union shall be stronger than before.

CHORUS.

Tramp, tramp, tramp,
The Tanners marching,
Cheer up, Southern loyal men,
And beneath the Tanner's torch,
You shall see the loyal North
Rout the Copperheads and rebels once again.

—"The vote here yesterday," says the Philadelphia Post, "was the largest ever cast in an American City. New York never equalled it, but then New York voted here too."

—Lord Bute sets an excellent example by declaring that not one of the men on his estate shall be influenced by him in the matter of voting, and urges each elector to vote as he thinks right.

—The population of the world is estimated at 1,350,200,000. Although the Democrats had about 1,347,000,000 to colonize from, we have carried Pennsylvania by a handsome majority.

—Francis II., ex-king of Naples, having asked the Emperor of Austria for permission to settle near Innspruck, M. de Beust replied that Austria was not disposed to receive fresh agitators.

—Ten different Paris papers offer portraits of Rochefort as premiums to their subscribers. Rochefort is probably the most popular man in or out of France now among the French people.

—The Boston Advertiser says: Those enemies of newspapers the heads of government departments, are preparing the documents with which they annually attempt to swamp the journals of the country.

—Montreal is ahead of the rest of America, for it has a witty illustrated paper called "Punch, or the Northern Lights." Intended for tickling the brains and touching the hearts of Northern livers probably.

—In the Presidency of Madras, in India, there were in 1865 1890 deaths from the bites of serpents, who do not seem to be submitting as gracefully as they might to the heel-bruising process.

—The Chicago papers do Mr. Jo. Jefferson justice; one of them said "Criticism stands abashed in the presence of perfection." This remark was made of his Rip Van Winkle and cannot be called extravagant.

—The Milwaukee, one of the large passenger and freight steamers plying on Lake Michigan, between Milwaukee and Grand Haven, was wrecked on Friday, and is a total loss. Fortunately all her passengers were saved.

—Following the excellent example of Ticknor & Fields, Messrs. D. Appleton & Co. have issued a handsomely illustrated and illuminated Almanac for 1869, with elegant and appropriate letter press. It will have a large sale.

—A religious paper is announced in Montreal, entitled the "Ave Maria, to be published in the interest of the Holy Virgin." A grand mass in requiem and a certain number of communions will be given to persons subscribing twenty dollars.

—A Sicilian lodge professes to have discovered the record of the initiation of Pope Pius IX as a Freemason, and has published a photograph of the Holy Father in Masonic Regalia. The Pope has, as will be remembered, recently excommunicated Freemasons.

—A new version of Scripture was given at a negro prayer-meeting recently held on board a Maryland coastwise steamer, at which an ecstatic old colored woman exclaimed, "Whew! Bless God! I would sooner be a deck hand on de ark ob de Lord dan de Capin of de Sam Pentz.

—The Œcumenical Council, summoned by the Pope to assemble in Rome in 1869, it is stated, will be opened not only to the bishops of the dissenting branch of the Greek Church, but also to representatives from the Church of England, and from the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States.

—The Boston Post, a Democratic paper, says: "A cheerful individual down in Maine has discovered that Grant will carry New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and almost everything else. Wait a day or two." We have waited, and the "cheerful individual down in Maine" has probably not yet had his spirits dampened.

—The Sunday Review says: "Of all countries that the traveller visits, the United States is the most gloomy. Every one in the cars has an oppressed and gloomy appearance." Evidently the writer has travelled on the Camden and Amboy road when New York Democrats were going home after a defeat, such as that of last Tuesday in Pennsylvania.

—A rich old man died recently whose young wife had led him but a sorry life. He frequently stated that he would be revenged. On reading the will his vengeance was too well felt. He left all his property, about $100,000, to his wife, on condition that she passes every day, from 8 A. M. till 6 P. M., in his tomb. Should she miss one hour, the whole fortune reverts to the natural heirs.

—"Paris Magazine" contains the following item: "Madame Lincoln, widow of the late President of the United States, is travelling through France, in order to take up her abode at Nice. We do not know if the honors to which she is entitled as the widow of a great citizen, have been paid to her in our country. Ah! if Madame Lincoln were only a Japanese! But, unfortunately, everybody is not a Japanese."

—We wonder if any one who saw it will ever forget the scene in City Hall on Tuesday night when Col. Stewart announced that the Allegheny county majority was over 8,000? It is estimated that for nearly five minutes, at least 1,500 hats were constantly whirling high in the air, and a mighty joyful shout rose from 4,000 voices. We have, at a German Sængerfest, heard a chorus of 15,000 voices, but we never heard sweeter, heartier music than that glad cry, at that glad time, when bearded men forgot their dignity and danced with delight as the fact dawned upon them that Allegheny county had redeemed herself, and that the State, the nation and the great cause of loyalty and liberty were safe at last.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 15, 1868.

CATTLE.

The market has been unusually quiet since the date of our last report, which may be attributed to the fact that nearly all of the dealers remained at home in order to vote. The offerings of cattle were very meagre, and the few that were here were inferior and not suitable for shipment; and, as already intimated, the demand was unusually light, there being a very slim attendance of buyers. The following are the sales:

SHEEP.

The market continues to be overstocked, and the quality this week reported to be only of a medium class. Over 2,000 head were driven into the pens on foot, and prices ruled low. The sales reported foot up 4,126 head at a range of from $3,00 to $4,25 per hundred, and are as follows:

HOGS.

The receipts of Hogs have been large and more than adequate to the wants of the market. Buyers consider prices far too high, and consumers think of buying anything else than pork or sausage at present rates. Prices must come down lower ere there is any trade done. RIVER NEWS.

The river remains about stationary at this point with scant twenty inches in channel. Weather continues cloudy and unsettled, with indications of rain.

No arrivals or departures, aside from Monongahela River packets, and business at the main landing is completely suspended.

Work is progressing finely on Capt. Shaw's new boat, and it will not be long until she will be ready for business. It is generally conceded that she is, or will be, in all respects the best boat ever built here for the Arkansas River trade.

We expect to be able to announce a packet for Salt River before long. There are a large number of passengers here waiting for a boat to convey them up that stream. Here is an excellent opportunity for some enterprising steamboatman.

—A steamboat Captain on the Mississipp has given the new popular name of "Grecian Bend" to what was formerly known as "Shirtail Bend" on the river.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says: The Rover, Capt. Sam. Dean, arrived from St. Louis, with three barges in tow, containing 900 tuns of iron ore for Pittsburgh. The Rover has laid up at Fulton, where she will await a rise sufficient to enable her to proceed to Pittsburgh with her tow. Capt. Dean is as gay as a lark.

—The Gazette says: The project of a Congressional excursion from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, has so far progressed that there is now little possibility of failure. All the papers on the rivers, all the City Councils, Boards of Trade and, Chambers of Commerce, have shown it favor, except, perhaps, St. Louis, which objects to the time.

—We clip the following from the Wheeling Intelligencer, of Wednesday: The United States Survey boats, Greenback and Tidioute passed up yesterday from Buffington where they had been at work, on their way to Pittsburgh. They report that the Wild Duck is aground there, got off on Friday last, and also report the Messenger as lying aground at Blennarhassett. The new towboat, Hope, built at Marrietta, and owned by Capt. L. D. Davis and others, at Parkersburg, came in day before yesterday. She will be inspected here this week.

—A St. Louis dispatch says: In the case of the steamer Bright Star, before the United States Circuit Court, Judge Miller to-day reaffirmed the decision of the District Court below. The charges against the Bright Star were that she carried freight and passengers between the town of Washington, Mo., and towns on the opposite side of the river, and that she therefore was subject to the various laws of Congress, requiring vessels impelled by steam to undergo, periodical inspection, and to obtain a coasting license. The defense was that the vessel is simply a ferry boat, and that the laws of Congress do not apply to vessels engaged exclusively in the internal commerce of the State, as this one is; and this view was sustained by the Court in an elaborate decision of considerable length.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 137⅞.

HON. JOHN COVODE was in the city yesterday. He feels confident that his election is secure, and that the Democracy need not fear finding any "Alligators" in the Salt River stream upon which they will soon take a voyage.

NEBRASKA increases her majority for the Republican Congressmen from 749 in '66 to a figure above 2,000 now. In her newly elected Legislature, twelve of the thirteen Senators and thirty-five of thirty-nine Representatives are also Republicans.

CRUMBS of Democratic comfort! They claimed Pennsylvania by 6,000 majority on Wednesday, and Indiana by 1,500 on Thursday. They will probably insist this afternoon that Ohio is theirs by an indefinite number of thousands. They are the same Democrats who cyphered out a triumph in Maine last week.

WHEN NOAH WEBSTER, himself a Democrat, forty years since defined a Democrat to be "one who advocates the extension of the elective franchise to all conditions of men," his definition was universally accepted. Definition, dictionary and doctrine are alike repudiated by the faction which still claims the good old Democratic name.

IT SUITS the supporters of FRANK BLAIR to denounce Judge PIERREPONT, the Tammany Democrat whose adhesion to GRANT we mentioned yesterday, as one who never enjoyed the confidence of that party. The truth is, however, that he has been long recognized as one of the most faithful Sachems of Democracy, and so conspicuously its leader that he was, two years since, selected to press the nomination of HOFFMAN in the Democratic State Convention. The only trouble now is that he remains faithful to his Democracy, while the BLAIR wing have shamelessly sold out to the rebel interest.

AGAIN, HORATIO SEYMOUR pathetically asks: "Where are the victories you promised me?" The answer comes, not from the old Keystone, nor from Ohio, nor Indiana, nor Nebraska, any more than from New England, but from far off Georgia, Louisiana, Texas and Tennessee. Every gaping wound, in the bodies of Union men butchered by Mr. SEYMOUR'S "friends" at Camilla, in Opelousas, the thousand already murdered in Texas and the four hundred assassinated in Tennessee, has lips to utter the response. There are all the "victories" which HORATIO SEYMOUR, and the rebel crew by which he is slavishly led shall ever hear of. And these wounds plead trumpet-tongued for the vengeance of a loyal people.

THE Mail mistakes when it says we have withdrawn all charges against Mayor BLACKMORE. We never uttered a word in these columns about the private character of that gentleman, and what we have said of his official character as Mayor we adhere to, believing we uttered no word but was warranted by truth. The Mail, by the way, labored with all its zeal to accomplish the defeat of Mr. BRUSH, and, coming so wide of its mark, naturally feels irritable, peevish and cross. It does not take the defeat of its candidates and the loss of the State with as much philosophy as the other equally bitter Democratic journals of the city. Its editors have much to learn in journalistic decorum as well as politics, and the sooner they set about their task the better for the influence and good standing of the little paper they conduct.

BUT ONE DUTY STILL.

The Union men of Allegheny behold what has been accomplished by work—and which nothing but work has enabled us all to achieve. Their majority of over nine thousand, the highest ever given by the county in a State election, is due to the fidelity with which our laborers for the good cause have carried the gospel of Peace into every precinct, close home to every fireside, and to the understanding of every citizen within our borders. Let us assure them now that the field has not been exhausted; that a wide breadth of popular support, for GRANT and Peace next month, remains still bearing an untouched harvest, ready to be reaped and garnered by loyal hands; that, for the one Democrat, whose invincible disgust at the back-sliding of his old leaders, led him to pronounce against them the other day, a score stand hesitating, irresolute and divided between partizan habit and patriotic inclination, and so, pondering upon their November vote. Here is work for us all to do. Let neighbors go to them; let Union journals be put in their hands; let committees labor with them; let our speakers admonish them in the light of argument, history and personal duty; show them how shamefully the false Democracy of to-day has debased itself from the high standards which the party formerly followed; place before their eyes the single issue which alone divides this people, and entreat them to be true to themselves, to the heritage which has come down from their fathers, and to the Republic, which it should be their hope and their pride to remit, in all the unimpaired glory of unity, prosperity and peace, to their children.

The enemy are paralyzed, not dead. Tuesday's blow has stunned them, but we shall soon see them revived and again struggling for life. It will be indeed a struggle for life or death, for they see it already written upon the wall that another blow like that will be deadly, and that four weeks more will witness the final extinguishment of their political existence. To avert this impending fate, they will find no expedients too desperate, no criminalities too atrocious. The recent elections would have been instantly and irrevocably fatal, except for the partial success with which, by evading some laws, trampling upon others, defying public decency, outraging private rights and substituting the violence of mobs for the written law of the land, they contrived to break, in some degree, the force of the blow. Let no man imagine that the leaders of the opposition have thus exhausted their villainous faculty for criminal expedients; on the contrary, their efforts will be redoubled, for despair will nerve them, and past impunity will encourage them. They know that thousands of honest men who, on Tuesday, were not quite ready to abandon them, will vote for GRANT when the vote directly counts, and their places in the Democratic ranks must be supplied by fresh perjuries and frauds. If we now delude ourselves with the false idea that all opposition is to be ended, and that the friends of the Union are to walk over an undisputed course next month, we shall too late find that we have made a fatal mistake. Properly improved, the present situation is replete with the most glowing promises, all of which may surely be realized. And neglect, over consciousness of our strength, too great a reliance upon the merits of our cause, would surely peril all. Remember, friends of the Union, that in this Commonwealth, on a vote of probably not less than 640,000 last Tuesday, you were only able to secure the meagre majority of twelve to fifteen thousand. This majority is too small for a poll so large; it warns us that the least relaxation from labor, and from vigilant observation of the enemy, may be fatal, while it also encourages us in the assurance that, with our whole duty done, with every vote polled, there shall be no legal possibility of defeat.

Thus admonished, and encouraged by the past, and resolutely faithful to the duties which all of us clearly understand, let us address ourselves once more to the work, intending, the next time, that our stroke for the Union and for the Liberty of Man, shall be the coup de grace for that party which threatens the one and denies the other.

UNIVERSITY BURSARIES.

We notice that Mr. SIMEON P. BENJAMIN recently died at Elmira, New York, leaving twenty-five thousand dollars for the benefit of indigent young women studying at the female college of that city. This is by no means all that he had done for that institution, nor his only charitable bequest, but we single it out for a special purpose. We regard this particular legacy as an eminently judicious one. He might have left it in the hands of trustees to found therewith a poor starveling affair that should bear his name only to make it an incessant jingle and din in the ears of the public as its wants and woes should ring out in periodical appeal. He might have done a great many other things with it that would have had the look of charity and the essence of selfish ostentation, but he did what we agree with him in regarding exactly the right thing. He found near him a worthy institution in actual operation. Rather, by his unstinted generosity, he had long been fostering such a one. No matter who founded it, there it was, near home, fulfilling its beneficent mission and maturing into noble results the liberality of his former years. He thought it a pity to leave a good thing only half done, so he finished it with the same pen with which he committed his body to the dust and his soul to the mercy of Him to whom rich and poor alike must give in their account.

More than this. We think he showed his good judgment in the particular mode in which he made this favored institution the object of such kind remembrance. There are many of both sexes who want an education, and who are well worth it, whose cases will not be met by merely reducing the rate bill of our academies and colleges. They must have more help than this. The faculties of these institutions, unable as they generally are to forego the assessments they must make upon their pupils for the very bread they are to eat, ought to have funds from which to draw in such cases—and so Mr. BENJAMIN reasoned. Peace to his ashes, long remembrance to his name, and a mighty germinal power to the seeds of his beneficence.

Of course we shall not be suspected of having had any domestic topic in view in this discussion of a noble deed. We are bound to assume, until we are informed to the contrary, that these matters are fully attended to by our free-hearted and public-spirited citizens. We are not willing to believe that the poorest boy or young man in whom God has stirred the spirit of a noble ambition, is ever obliged, with crushed hopes and embittered feelings towards a respectable community, to turn off from the high career he had entered upon, only to harden his muscles in the heavy service of a fated cyclops. We would hope that there is not among us a boy, whatever uniform of poverty he may wear, who cannot through the liberality of those who can afford to be liberal, enter our University and make his way along, without interruption, for want of means, from his first essay in Latin, until he pronounces his valedictory on the commencement board. But it is not best, however, to assume that this is indeed so. We venture, therefore, to appoint as a committee of investigation, with full power to act, in view of the facts elicited, all those of our fellow-citizens who have the means to give, the intelligence to know the value of a good institution of classical and scientific learning, and to recognize it when they find such a one, and who have not yet ascertained by personal inquiry whether there is one among us, and if so, what its wants are for its fullest possible development. Whatever may be the merits of institutions of this character, it cannot be supposed that the general public will learn what they are, and hence profit by the proffered advantages, unless the intelligent and influential men and women in the vicinity inform themselves on the subject and take an interest in enlarging the area of the influence of their home agencies for good. Those immediately engaged have not the time, the disposition, nor, in the etiquette of letters, the right to trumpet their own fame. They ought to have nothing more to do in this line than to open their doors to disinterested, yet deeply interested, friends and patrons of good learning, to let them carry to the public at large a report of what is going on within those classic shades. Do our institutions of advanced culture enjoy this advantage? Shall they?

THE XXIST DISTRICT.

Afternoon dispatches yesterday affirmed the election of Mr. COVODE by majorities variously stated at from 29 to 85. We have no doubt that he is elected and that an honest official count, by whomsoever made, will show it. Of what he had to contend against, some idea may be formed from the annexed statement in the Greensburg Herald:

The Democrats did their worst yesterday in this county. They polled everything they had in districts where they had the board. Quite a number were polled in this borough and township, mainly, by swearing themselves through, as to residence, &c. Two voted who had not been here two days previous and left at once. Quite a number of Democratic "carpet baggers" were seen leaving this morning. With all their deviltry and an increased vote in the borough and township of 54 over two years ago, they only increased their majorities fourteen votes for Foster over Weir's.

Those who run the Democratic machine of Assessments officially in Unity township, have put themselves in good position to have the whole enormous majority in Youngstown District thrown out, if it is investigated. We are informed that no list of assessments were put up for the people to see who were in that District, and that no copy of them could be had here in the Commissioner's Office, either. And that on Tuesday when a lot of voters known to be non residents of the District, were offered and challenged, the challengers were told by the Democratic Board to not "bother themselves, as they were running that machine," and voted everything.

MODERN DEMOCRACY.

"Vote early, vote late, vote as often as possible" was the advice of a leading Democratic journal of Philadelphia on Tuesday last. Several thousands of its party adopted this advice, and voted accordingly. That sufficiently accounts for the majority which this much-voting party claims in that city, and affords a striking verse in the chapter of commentary thereon, to be duly consulted by the revisionary tribunals which are about to correct this exuberance of Democratic zeal.

AN EXECUTIVE FORGERY.

The law requiring that all orders to the Southern District Commanders should go through the General of the Army, ANDREW JOHNSON impudently appended, to his recent order inviting the people of Texas to an illegal participation in the November election, the name of Gen. GRANT, who was at the time in Illinois, and has never sustained this audacious forgery. The people may hear from him on this point.

PHILADELPHIA did not do her full share of labor in the election on Tuesday. Making all just allowance for the gross frauds perpetrated at her polls, still the figures do not develope the fact that the city was up and at the enemy as she should have been. They of the East rely too much on the Western end of the State to save the Commonwealth in important political struggles; and while such noble counties as Allegheny cheerfully perform the greater portion of the drudgery necessary to secure majorities, Philadelphia and other sections enjoy the glories and rewards arising therefrom, shouting out as loud as the loudest, "We have done the thing!" However, our people are not jealous of their well-earned laurels. They feel that they have glory enough in the consciousness that they have discharged their full duty to the country, and have held the old State in the channel of loyalty in spite of the desperate measures of the enemy, and the direliction of duty on the part of their friends in other localities. They look at the figures of Allegheny county with unfeigned joy and satisfaction, and inwardly resolve that she shall be made say twelve thousand for GRANT and COLFAX in November.

—In the counties heard from, as given above, the vote in the State is as follows:

Hartranft	42,886
Boyle	36,009
Republican majority	13,877

The counties to hear from—Center, Jefferson and Pike—gave a Democratic majority in 1867 of 1,394.

THE remaining three weeks of the Presidential canvass are to be fought out on the line of the BLAIR-BRODHEAD letter, and the Democratic plan for another rebellion. The certainty of GRANT'S election equally commits the opposition, North and South, to make good their repeated threats to appeal to the bullet if the ballot should fail them. Now, that the October elections have resulted for the Union, the bullet is to be the only argument left to the Democracy, and that argument has nowhere been so comprehensively and distinctly expressed as in the BRODHEAD letter, which promised to "trample laws and Constitution in the dust." Let none of our cringing Northern Democratic dough-faces dream for a moment of successfully evading the issue. It has been made by themselves, accepted by loyalty and patriotism everywhere, and the people will look to nothing else on making up the verdict. Nor will the Southern wing of these rebels permit any backing-out by the party at the North. For example; the Augusta (Ga.,) Constitutionalist says:

"General Blair struck the true issue of the campaign in his Brodhead letter, and although some foolish Democrats have sought to apologise for or explain its direct utterance, they would have exhibited far more wisdom had they pushed his idea aggressively on every stump in the East and West. Had the South kept silent and worked in secret, and the North roused herself with the misplaced fervor and vigor of the South, Frank Blair's letter would have been no stumbling-block in the way of Democratic success. But precipitate Southerners compelled the sluggish Northern Democracy to qualify their pre-determined policy of aggression, and assume a curious attitude of defence. Would to God they had been more alert or we more patient."

IT IS quite among the possibilities that when that staunch Democratic journal, the Philadelphia Universe, on Tuesday morning last, deliberately and solemnly enjoined upon each man of its party the sacred duty of illegally voting as often as possible during the day, it delivered a most mischievous blow upon a leading element in the Democratic organization. The editor of the Universe now protests that his advice was only jocose, and not seriously meant, and this protest is echoed by other journals of his party. This won't do at all. The advice was soberly and coolly given, in all the dignity of editorial type, and was meant to be followed precisely as it was followed in the succeeding election. Whatever, therefore may have been the funny intentions of this Democratic editor, his facetious design is very sure to return in good time to plague the comical inventor and his friends.

THE ELECTION IN PHILADELPHIA.

The Press of the 14th says:

Citizens of repute and substance, in large numbers, were driven from the polls with insult and violence. Officers of the law were shot in Chestnut street and the halls of the Continental. Quiet, unoffending citizens were cut down and trampled on in the very heart of the city in broad daylight, while in the outer districts the polls were regularly held, stuffed, and not a Union man allowed to approach them. A hurried estimate of the killed and wounded of the day and night, made by our reportorial force, foots up six dead and twenty-five wounded, many fatally.

The Morning Post says:

After death comes the judgment. The Republican party has lost the city by fraud, but can win it back by honesty. As surely as Chief Justice Sharswood turned the Supreme Court into a Democratic Committee Room; as surely as J. Ross Snowden allowed the seal of the Court to be placed on blank certificates of naturalization; as surely as six thousand illegal votes were cast yesterday for the Democratic ticket, so surely is it that Daniel M. Fox is not to be the next Mayor of Philadelphia.

Who carried the city yesterday? The Democratic party? No. Sharswood and Thompson sold it out, Snowden sealed the bargain, Sheriff Lyle, with his three thousand bludgeons, enforced the swindle which the Supreme Court originated. The Democratic party is a known and established minority in Philadelphia, and it did not win yesterday. We shall not let it keep by force the victory it won by fraud.

As soon as the Supreme Court meets in banc at Pittsburgh the six thousand naturalization papers issued by it, will be declared illegal by a majority of the judges. Snowden, the Prothonotary, will be removed from the office he has disgraced. As soon as the Legislature meets, Sheriff Lyle will be impeached by the Attorney General, and no doubt removed, for the unlawful action of his deputies yesterday.

We cannot submit, and the Republican party does not intend to submit. Therefore, we say to Republicans, you won a victory yesterday. YOUR TICKET IS ELECTED, and every man upon it is entitled to the office for which he was chosen.

The scenes and incidents of an exciting day are thus described:

TEMPER OF THE PEOPLE.

The resolution of all orderly citizens was to "vote early," unless absolutely impossible; and everywhere all the members, from the proprietors to the clerks of mercantile houses stood in line and put in their ballots before going to business. The first three hours after the polls were open, from seven o'clock until ten, witnessed the depositing of a vote far beyond that ever before cast in the same time. Invalids were carried in chairs to precinct houses, and one noted instance is known of a veteran ninety-five years of age, who, thanking God for the privilege, cast his vote for the candidates of the Union party. Many factories in the city, and in the adjacent towns, were closed at noon to allow their hands a fair chance to vote. Throughout the day, the general demeanor of the people was admirable. All the instrumentalities within the reach of human agency were to-day brought into service to secure a full and faithful expression of the popular voice. Loyal Judges sat from early morn until evening to redress grievances promptly.

Governor Geary voted at an early hour in the day, and then hastened to this city to bring out the military power of the State, should exigencies require it; Mayor McMichael did not go a fishing, but sat all day long at his official desk, with fingers on the pulse of the city, every hour receiving full reports of all the proceedings in every precinct. Chief of Police Ruggles watched with eagle eye the movements of the telegraph that told him how beat the popular pulse, that had been fevered by the intrusion of thousands of ruffians sent to defraud and to overawe the Quaker City. Thanks to the thoroughness of preparation, and probably to the fact that the roughs were aware that the military were at hand, the gangs of ruffians and "repeaters" did not show themselves at any time during the day in larger number than squads; and thus, though containing such elements of discord, the city of Penn was shielded from wide-spread riot.

Another journal says:

There was a large vote polled, numbering on Mayor, 118,769—exceeding the number of ballots ever deposited in this city. Of this number the Republicans have increased on their vote last year, on Judge of Supreme Court, 9,726; the Democrats, 8,881. On the State ticket the Republican increase is about one thousand more than the above figures, and the Democratic increase about one thousand.

A SLIGHT COLD, COUGH,

OR SORE THROAT may be checked if a reliable remedy is applied at once, but if neglected very soon preys upon the lungs, and the result may prove fatal. The past few weeks of changeable temperature and cold rains are fruitful sources of troubles of the lungs, throat and chest. If you are attacked by a cold, no matter how slight, use at once

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP,

Which is an old and well tried remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, and all Affections of the Pulmonary Organs.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is entirely free from any deleterious ingredient, and can be given with perfect safety to the youngest child.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Gives sure and almost immediate relief to hoarseness and that annoying sensation, tickling, in the throat. If you would obtain a reliable remedy, be sure and call for

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP.

If your Druggist does not keep it, ask him to get it for you.

COUNSEL FOR THE CARELESS.

The body is a machine, and carelessness in its management is as sure to lead to evil results as carelessness in the management of a steam engine. Yet the last thing that most people think of is the protection of this delicate piece of the Creator's handiwork from the subtle causes of disease by which it is surrounded. It is no easy thing to repair the system when in ruins; but there is no difficulty in fortifying it against many of the dangers to which it is exposed. Guard against nervous debility. As the first symptom of this fore-runner of more serious ailments, sustain the flagging energies of nature with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Take it regularly and persistently, until bodily vigor is thoroughly restored. It creates an appetite, promotes—or, it might as properly be said compels—the complete digestion of the food, regulates the secretive action of the liver, tones and invigorates the bowels, improves the condition of the blood, and gives firmness to the nerves. Upon a system thus strengthened and regulated in all its important functions, the fogs and exhalations of autumn, pregnant with the elements of intermittent fever can make little or no impression. Whoever supposes that fever and ague is an unavoidable evil in certain districts, at this season of the year, is egregiously mistaken. As effectually as a draught of cold air is shut out by the closing of a door, this complaint, and all disorders of a miasmatic type, may be prevented by the use of the BITTERS. When sickness can be avoided by a means so safe and simple, is it not the merest fatuity to neglect the proffered antidote? Regarded either as a preventive or a cure Dr. Swayne's, billious as, intermittent fever, nervous disorders, general debility, or constipation of the bowels, this pure vegetable preparation stands alone.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established.

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is enriched by some of the most valuable plants and herbs known to be useful and curative to all deteriorated states of the human blood, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into declines and rapid consumption, so hopelessly incurable, and so most surely fatal. Let any one afflicted with any pulmonary disease try but one bottle, and they will be convinced of the value of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure. Sold by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood St.

AN AUTOGRAPH LETTER FROM

GEORGE D. PRENTICE, Esq.,

Editor of the "Louisville Journal."

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 5th, 1866.

DR. LIGHTHILL—DEAR SIR: I am very sorry to learn that you contemplate leaving Louisville at the end of the present week. I earnestly wish that your engagement elsewhere might permit you to remain here for a longer time.

Your sojourn among us, Dr. Lighthill, will be long remembered by our people. It has been a blessing to many. You have treated me and a female member of my family with great success. You seem to me to understand, as by intuition, the character of a malady and its best remedy. You have a multitude of patients in this city, and I have not seen or heard of one to whom you held out the promise of relief without rendering it. Your entire practice among us has been a brilliant success, and I cheerfully recommend you to my friends and the public at large as a physician deserving the utmost confidence.

Hoping that you may live long to be a blessing to additional thousands of the afflicted, I am, very truly, yours. GEORGE D. PRENTICE.

TESTIMONIAL FROM THE

REV. JOHN NOTT, D. D.,

Professor in Union College, Schenectady.

SCHENECTADY, January 17th, 1866.

DR. LIGHTHILL—SIR: Having been cured by you of a discharge in an ear, which has been very offensive of late, and, far back as I can remember, always more or less so, and having been entirely restored to hearing since under your care, I feel that I cannot withhold this acknowledgment from any use it may be to others, especially as I have applied in vain to my family physician and other physicians of reputation. Yours truly,

JOHN NOTT.

DR. LIGHTHILL—DEAR SIR: I wish to express to you the appreciation of your skill as a practitioner, particularly in the relief afforded many afflicted with Catarrh; I, myself, having received permanent benefit from your treatment. Congratulating the afflicted in the West of an opportunity to avail themselves of your invaluable services, and wishing you much success, I am, yours very truly,

BURNETT HOUSE, February 9th, 1867.

TO MY FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC:

It affords me great satisfaction to be able to testify to the success of Dr. Lighthill in the treatment of deafness, and express my sense of obligation to him. My hearing has been impaired for a number of years, at times to such an extent as to embarrass me seriously. Dr. Lighthill, under whose care I placed myself, has removed the difficulty completely, and restored me to perfect hearing.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The premiums being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policyholders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to procure acceptance to the public, such as INCOME POLICY, ENDOWMENT POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policyholder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income on the sum insured (10 per cent.) of his policy of his policy. After the Company agrees to return to be returned to him the amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or its General Agents.

☞ LOCAL AGENTS are WANTED in every City and Town; and applications from competent parties for such agencies with suitable endorsement, should be addressed TO THE COMPANY'S GENERAL AGENTS ONLY, in their respective districts.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 15, 1868.

Gold opened strong at 137¾, and advanced to 138¾, at which rates large purchases were made to recover short sales. Even should gold decline to near 33 per cent. in November, the expense of borrowing it to that time would eat up all the profits derived from short sales. The tone of the market is decidedly bullish at present, and any combination of the bull party that carried gold from 144 down to the present time is able to run up the market four to five per cent. Even those who a few days ago thought gold would decline heavily after the Pennsylvania elections, do now admit that it is the cheapest article in the market. The entire gold market is now in the hand of the German bankers of New York, their friends, and a firm on Wall street. Their unlimited credit gives them great advatages over their rivals also having gold on hand, and being able to draw against blank credits in Europe, it costs them nothing to borrow, and generally yields them interest when on hand.

Government bonds are very strong, and parties are buyers now that would not buy when the bonds were down, are now anxious to invest after an advance of two per cent.; the advance seems only to have begun, and much higher prices are expected before November.

The stock market is very strong; Erie was run up to 150¾ to-day; on maturing contracts a large short interest was created a few days ago, and stock became scarce; the decline, however, is only temporary, as a strong party is bound to buy in all the stock offered at the decline for the purpose of running it up much above present prices. The western roads are all strong, in anticipation of a large investment demand in November. Ohio and Mississippi is less firm for the time being, but a shrewd set of western operators have yet hold of the stock, and are determined to advance its price far above present quotations. Cleveland had touched 91½, declined at the close through large sales to realize. Fort Wayne is at the base of a large rise; the ground work is well laid; an increase of earnings over former years. Rock Island is expected to go to 112, and New York Central will likely be advanced to 133. Mining shares firmer and improving. At the close governments declined ¼ per cent., and Erie sold down to 48½.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 138; Eighty-one's, 115¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 113¾; do, 1864, 111¾; do, 1865, 111⅝; do, 1865, new, 109¾; do, 1867, 110; do, 1868, 111⅝; Ten Forties, 105¾; Railroads—Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 90½; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 112¾; Chicago & Rock Island, 108¾; Chicago & North Western, 96¾; do Preferred, 97; Michigan Southern, 87⅝; Reading, 97¾; Erie, 49; New York Central, 129⅝; Ohio & Mississippi Certificates, 31⅝; Western Union Telegraph Co, 37¼; Merchants Union Express Co., 22¾. Mining shares—Quicksilver, 21.

—It is reported that Secretary McCulloch has at last yielded to the clamerous demand made by New York speculators that sales of Government Gold should be made on public announcement. How such a course is to inure to the advantage of any one but the speculators is not apparent. The persons who have so unsparingly abused the Secretary for selling Gold like any one else in the market, are not in the habit of making it known beforehand that they propose at a given hour to throw a certain amount of cash Gold or other articles on the market, unless they are conspiring, to break down the market, and why they should be so stupid as to ask that the Government's interest in getting all it can for a commodity it may offer for sale shall be subordinate to the caprices of a lot of reckless adventures, seems to have no other answer than that of thorough selfishness. In offering what it may have for sale, it is fair to presume that the Government would desire to get all it can, and there is no reason why it may not pursue precisely the same course that an individual would in an honest management of his business.

—The Chicago Board of Trade held a special meeting on Tuesday for the purpose of considering the motions made relative to the "corner" question. The Tribune says of the action of the meeting: We congratulate the board on the broad position taken. It has in effect said that the action of any party or parties attempting to corner the market on grain is a fraud, and under this decision, any case which may be brought before the board by a party to a corner against one of his intended victims for the non-fulfilment of a corner contract, must be ruled out and declared null and void, all such transactions being declared fraudulent. All rightminded men, will rejoice that the power to inflict such a gigantic commercial wrong is takea away, and one would think that even the corner men will not be sorry to find the sting removed which, like that of the scorpion, not infrequently, mortally wounds the stinger.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 15, 1868.

In our general markets there is nothing that is really new or important. The excitement in regard to the recent elections is subsiding somewhat, and more attention is being devoted to business, though there is but comparatively little doing, as the demand for everything is restricted mainly to supplying immediate wants, while so far as values are concerned, there are no important changes.

APPLES—In good supply and dull but unchanged; regular sales at $2,50 to $3,50 per bbl; as to quality.

APPLE BUTTER—Is arriving pretty freely, and sales are being made at 85 to 95 cts per gallon.

BUTTER—Is dull with liberal arrivals, though prices are unchanged; 33 to 35 for packed, and 37 to 40 for prime Roll.

EGGS—Unchanged at 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—Is steady with regular sales at 17c for Hamburg; 18c for Factory, and 19 to 20c for Goshen.

POTATOES—Peach Blows and Neshannocks 85 to 90c, and dull. Prime fresh receipts of Jersey Sweets $5,25 to $5,50; old receipts at $4,50 to $5.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is in steady demand and firm at $2,50. Timothy Seed is dull and in good supply; quoted at $3 to $3,25. Cloverseed nominal at $8.

HAY—Baled Hay is quoted at $28 to $30, for good to strictly prime. Wagon Hay ranges from $28 to $38, as to quality.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and nominally unchanged; No. 1 Spring, $1,75, and No. 1 Winter is still quoted at $2. Barley is firm and in demand at $2,10 to $2,15 for Spring, and $2,20 to $2,25 for Fall. Rye, also, is in demand, and distillers are paying $1,50 for all they can get. Oats firm but unchanged at 66c, on track, and 68 to 70c, in store. Corn, $1,15 to $1,17, as to quality.

PROVISIONS—Bacon unchanged at 13½ for Shoulders; 16c to 18 for Ribbed, and Clear Sides, and 20c to 20 c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard 20 to 20½c, for prime kettle rendered. Mess Pork, $30,50 to $31.

LARD OIL—Firm but unchanged at $1,25 for No. 2, and $1,50 for No. 1.

CRANBERRIES—Prime Cultivated $15 to $16 per bbl.

CHESTNUTS—Quoted at $6,50 to $7 per bushel.

SALT—Dull; sales of Allegheny River brands at $1,75 by the car load, and $1,90 to $2 in store.

ONIONS—In consequence of scarcity, have still further advanced, and may now be quoted at $5 to $6 per bbl.

FLOUR—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and the market is quiet and unchanged. Spring Wheat brands $8,50 to $9,25. The Mills continue to quote at $10,30 for Extra Family in bbls, and $10,00 in sacks, and Double Extra at $10,80 in bbls, and $10,50 in sacks. Rye flour $8,50.

WHISKY—Is firm with a steady demand at $1,25 for Rectified, and $1,35 for Highwines.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 15, 1868.

CRUDE.

The Crude market was more active today, the reported sales being much larger, in the aggregate, than for several days preceding, but, as will be seen, prices are a shade lower. Crude, however, is holding its own better than Refined, the decline being relatively smaller, though there is no disguising the fact that both are lower. The sales were:

500 bbls immediate..... 11¾c
1000 " " 11¾c
126 " " 11¾c
500 " October, seller..... 12c
1000 " last half November..... 11¾c
1000 " each Nov. and Dec..... 11¾c

REFINED.

The market was considerably excited today, the sales being unusually large, but prices are considerably lower. This may be attributed to the fact that this was delivery day, and there was considerable oil thrown on the market by parties who were unwilling to incur tho expense and the risk of carrying it over into November. This, however, does not argue much in favor of better prices; otherwise, those who were selling to-day would have carried over until next month. The sales were:

FROM THE WEST.

The Tour of Sheridan—A Buffalo Hunt—Royal Sport for Amateurs—Indian Atrocities—A Pleasant Excursion &c.

LAWRENCE, Oct. 10, 1868.

Soon after I closed my last letter, which was written while running westward over the plains, we reached Sheridan, the present terminus of the Kansas Pacific Railroad, 405 miles west of the Missouri at Wyandotte, and 387 miles west of Lawrence. As there we turned our faces eastward, and traveled nearly as fast as the mail, I deferred writing any more till I got back.

Sheridan is a little town of slight and apparently temporary frame buildings. It is the head of this great highway, and here many wagon trains from New Mexico and the mountains come and go. These alone keep it alive, for there is no settlement whatever around it to give it a trade. Roughs and lewd women constitute too large a proportion of the population, and lawlessness is the rule rather than the exception. There are very few wives there. The night we lay there a man was shot and wounded severely in a bar-room or dance-house brawl.

The country around is gently undulating and sublimely beautiful in its vast and treeless expanse; beautiful, as the ocean is beautiful, but not yet fit for settlement. The soil is rich, yet the prairie grass, almost the only vegetation, is short and thin. The ground seems to be packed as hard as a summer highway, and the water-worn gullies to be seen at intervals show that the rains run off it as off a roof.

On Thursday morning early, the train bearing the excursionists set out on the return trip, to run back some forty miles to the place where we passed the immense herd of buffaloes the day before, and there devote as much of the day as possible to a regular hunt. The armed gentlemen, and indeed the entire party, were in high spirits. On the way they organized themselves into three parties or companies, each company choosing a captain, fully resolved to do up the business systematically; to take the enemy on both flanks, and if possible cut off his retreat. The programme was admirably arranged. The day was clear, warm, and all that could be desired.

As we neared the great rendezvous, scattered herds were seen on both sides of the road, but we passed them by. Presently a small herd, a kind of picket-guard of the grand army, was observed, dead ahead near the road. Our braves became wild with excitement, and it was easy to see, as has been seen a thousand times before, that

"The best laid plans of mice and men
Gang aft agley."

All discipline was forgotten. Before the train could be stopped more that fifty rifles were leveled at the herd from car-windows and platforms, and the first shot of some impatient marksman was the signal for a general volley, and before the train stood still a huge bull was brought down. Pell mell sprang our men from the cars, and, instead of quickly surrounding the herd, which might have been done—for the rest appeared inclined to wait for their unlucky companion—the majority ran straight to the fallen buffalo, and then the remainder of the herd scampered off. A few men tried to flank and head them, but were not able to do so. Never were a set of raw militia more uncontrollable. Soon the carcass of the first trophy of this day's sport lay in the freight car alongside of the monster slain the evening before.

So the hunt began. We moved on some distance, and soon the game became like the stars in the sky, innumerable, and our hunters, singly and in squads, went to work on foot, and during the day some fifteen or sixteen were killed—the wounded were not counted—of which nine or tens in whole or in part, were secured.

It was the most exciting day I ever saw, or ever expect to see. In that perfectly clear atmosphere, and on those vast and unobstructed plains, the eye could follow the hunters and see their game until they become like specks in the distance. Rarely, if ever before, had ladies an opportunity of witnessing such a scene.

Toward evening the party gathered in and we resumed our way homeward. But soon it was discovered that four of the party were missing. Too eager in their work they had got too far away to be back in time. This was the occasion of some anxiety. Next morning, however, we learned by telegraph that they had been taken upsafely by the westward bound train of that evening and carried back to Sheridan. The news of their safety was joyful; for we dreaded the prowling and scalping savages.

We reached Hays City a little after dark, our conductor thought of running on that night to Ellsworth, but an order from Mr. Marshall, the superintendant of the western division of the road, not to do so kept us there till morning. Never was an order more wisely or more timely; for during the night an attempt was made by Indians to throw the regular train from the track by laying a log of wood across it, but which the cow-catcher threw off without harm. It is very probable that they were aiming to waylay this excursion train, which had we gone on would have followed the regular train at but a short distance.

When we came to Wilson's Creek Station, about twenty miles west of Ellsworth, a painful and shocking sight awaited us. Some men had been employed to prospect for coal in the bluffs on the south side of the Smoky Hill. Two of them had gone to work at some distance from the others, and were there suddenly surprised, murdered and scalped by some prowling Arrapaho Indians. Their bodies had been brought to the station to be taken down to Fort Harker for burial. An arrow had entered just above the eye of one of them, had penetrated deeply into the brain, and was still sticking there. Both were scalped. Nearly the entire scull of one of them was denuded. The wrist of one of them was deeply slashed for about eight inches for the purpose of taking the tendons out wherewith to make throngs to fasten the iron spear-shaped heads upon their arrows.

Laid side by side, upon something like a door, they were borne from the wagon to the car between two lines composed of all the excursionists, while the band played a solemn dirge. I have neither room nor inclination for comment.

That same morning two other men who had gone out to cut wood, were murdered at Cow Creek, a few miles further east, by the same or another band; and on Thursday, I believe it was, a wagon train was captured and some of the men killed in the same neighborhood. Just then that was a perilous region.

Still, singular as it may seem, we scarcely thought of the Indians until we saw some of their murderous work. With not less than seventy well armed, resolute men in our party we had nothing to fear in daylight; but to have run at night between Hays City and Ellsworth would have been perilous in the extreme. A good Providence watched over us and returned us safely, after one of the most novel, interesting, pleasant and exciting excursions ever made. We reached Lawrence last night at 11 o'clock. C.

A CORRESPONDENT gives the following description of a dog city on the plains: "Before reaching Cheyenne we passed directly through the populous city of the Prairie Dogs, occupying an area, it is said, of about twenty-five miles square. The subterranean houses of these dogs, of which there are thousands, are indicated on the surface by small mounds of sand about the size of the hills thrown up by the red ant. In the centre of these mounds is the opening by which the dog enters his apartment. When we first entered upon this settlement, none of the animals made their appearance, the weather being cool, but later in the day as the sun shone out, they came out by hundreds, seating themselves after a comical fashion upon their haunches upon their mounds, and showing no fear whatever of the passing train, except when a shot was fired at them by the passengers, when those in the immediate vicinity would make a somersault and disappear. They are called "prairie dogs," but this is a misnomer, as they have none of the peculiar characteristics of a dog. One naturalist says of this species of dog: 'He is of the rodentia family; has the head, jaws and teeth, nails and body of a squirrel; sits up on his haunches as the squirrel does, and handles and nibbles his food in the same manner. His bark is not a bark, but more like the chirrup of a bird or 'cheep, cheep' of a ground squirrel. In shape, form and action, he more nearly resembles the chipmunk or ground squirrel, and is twice or thrice its size. His color is a light, dirty, reddish brown. All the feet are five-toed, and are provided with long, black nails, the thumb being armed with a strong conic nail, three-quarters of an inch in length."

THE Wisconsin papers are filled with lamentations of the failure of the hop crop in that State. "Last year's success," says the Milwaukee Wisconsin, "converted otherwise sensible men into hop monomaniacs, who thought of nothing and cared for nothing but hops, and who neglected the the pursuit of all other things of this world to devote themselves to the cultivation of this exhilarating herb. Every other interest gave way to hops. Men with large farms expended last season's profits in extending their yards, building kilns, &c., and what could not be brought under the dominion of hops was left to grow up to weeds and bushes." The same paper adds: "We doubt whether through those sections grain enough has been raised for home consumption, and hundreds of farmers we know have not raised wheat sufficient to bread their familes, and what is worse, since the magic reed upon which they leaned has broken, they are without money to buy it; in short they are left with nothing but mortgaged farms, needy families and ruined credit, with which to begin anew." The area devoted to hop culture, in Wisconsin, this year, is stated at about fifteen thousand acres, and the reports say that half the crop is destroyed by mould and lice; more than half the remainder is saved in a damaged condition, and prices are reduced from sixty cents in 1867 to seventeen cents in 1868.

A NEW RAILWAY BRAKE has recently been tried in England, which affords a means of stopping the train to the engine driver, the guard and the passengers. The result of the experiment is said to have been very successful, as may be seen from the following report: The first stop was made on an incline of one in one hundred feet, while the train was going thirty-five miles an hour, and the space in which the engine driver managed to pull up was three hundred and twenty-three yards. The second stop was on a level, when the progress of the train at forty miles an hour was checked and brought to a stand still in two hundred and twenty yards. In the third trial the driver's familiarity with the apparatus became apparent, as he succeeded in stopping within two hundred yards, the speed then being fifty-five miles an hour, and the place an incline of one in one hundred.

THE Astronomers of India, from remote antiquity, have been celebrated for their skill in calculating the time of the occurrence of celestial phenomenon. The science of astronomy, however, in that country is combined with astrology, and the publications at the present day of the pundits present a curious mixture of truth and falsehood. The inhabitants of India regulate their daily transactions according to the horoscopes of each individual. Hence an almanac, published in the Bengali language, at Serampore, meets with an extensive sale. The "Notun Panjika," as it is called, is a work of 270 octavo pages, and yet costs only twenty-four cents. It is said to combine all the characteristics of the Nautical Almanac and that absurd astrogical annual entitled Zadkiel's Almanac.

THE RECENT EARTHQUAKE.—Recent despatches from the East Indies state that earthquake shocks were felt in the Punjaub on August 20th. The catastrophe in South America occurred, it will be recollected, from August 13th to 18th; it is therefore probable that the two phenomena were caused by the same convulsion of nature. As a continuous route of shocks from one point to another on the surface of the earth cannot be traced, it is conjectured that the force of the internal commotion may have been communicated through the diameter of the earth, Ecuador and India being opposite. These facts, however, may support the theory of internal fires beneath the crust of the earth.

THE public buildings at Washington, according to the report of the architect, will, during the year ending June 30th, 1870, require an expenditure of the sum of $117,000, distributed among the following items: For completing the work on the Capitol extension, $75,000; for completing new dome, $5,000; for annual repairs of the Capitol, $10,000; for heating the rotunda, $15,000, and for completing the Patent Office Building, $12,000.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Rooms of the Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street.

The Allegheny Police Committee met last evening.

Committed.—Alderman Thomas yesterday committed for trial John Thomas, charged with false pretence on oath of Fleming Kinney.

Affliction.—Henry Alles made information before Alderman Thomas, yesterday, against Robert Welsh for fornication. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

Ball.—The First Annual Ball of the Excelsior Boat Club takes place at Lafayette Hall this evening. Liberal arrangements have been made to secure the enjoyment of all who attend, Salute Fired.—The Second Ward Artillery, under command of Capt. John Floyd, fired a salute of one hundred guns on the Monongahela wharf last evening, in honor of the Pennsylvania elections.

Clubbed.—Julia Smith alleges that John Welsh hit her on the head with a club. Alderman Taylor issued a warrant for the arrest of John for assault and battery. The parties reside in the Ninth ward.

Passed Through.—Gen. Thomas passed through the city yesterday, from Washington, en route to Tennessee. He took dinner at the Union Hotel, and resumed his journey on the first train west.

Surety.—Mary Aubreman alleges that John Dobbins threatened to kill her. Alderman Thomas issued a warrant for the arrest of the accused, who was arrested, and after a hearing held for trial, for surety of the peace.

Erratum.—Mr. H. A. Freyfogle, Democratic candidate for Select Council, Second Ward, received one hundred and ninety-eight votes, the highest polled by that party, instead of one hundred and eighteen, as reported in yesterday's GAZETTE.

Unpaid Horse Hire.—E. Czarineicki made information yesterday, before Alderman Mullen, against Wm. Hackin, for false pretence. The prosecutor alleges that Hackin is indebted to him $27 for horse hire, which he obtained by false pretence. A warrant was issued.

Skilleted.—Mary E. Morrison alleges that Benjamin Parker struck her in the face with a skillet. The parties are colored and reside in the Third ward, Allegheny. Benjamin was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman Mullen, who committed him to jail for trial on a charge of assault and battery.

Twenty-third Ward.—In our list of Councilmen for the year 1869, of the Twenty-third ward, we published in Select the names of Messrs. W. H. Brown and George H. Anderson, who were defeated by Messrs. J. D. Scully and Hill Burgwin. Messrs. Joseph Nixon and James B. Palmer were elected to Common Council.

Complimentary.—Mr. Will S. Taylor on Monday evening, when in the Republican procession, was made the recipient of a most beautiful wreath from some unknown but patriotic lady. Attached to the wreath was a card bearing the following inscription: "From M. S., to the patriot men of the Second Ward Grant Club, Allegheny." Good for Taylor.

Credit.—In noticing the splendid displays gotten up in Allegheny, on the occasion of the recent torchlight demonstration, we credited Mr. Jacob Myers with the display made by Mr. Joseph Myers, North avenue, which was one of the neatest and most elaborate we observed. Mr. Myers is a representative and earnest Republican, who is never found wanting in patriotism and liberality on such occasions.

Alleged False Pretence.—John Miller made information, yesterday, before Alderman Mullen, against John Rockridle, for false pretence. Miller alleged that he sold a horse, valued at $125, to Rockridle, for which he was to receive a note payable in three months. This part of the agreement, it is stated, had not been complied with on the part of the purchaser, hence the suit. The matter was finally arranged by Rockridle paying for the horse and the cost of suit, which was withdrawn.

Bell's Trunk Factory.—Last evening, about nine o'clock, a fire broke out in the cellar of Bell's trunk factory, Market street, between second and Third avenues. An alarm was sounded from Box 15, Vigilant Engine House, which brought the department promptly to the ground. The flames broke out in the rear part of the cellar, among some rubbish. They were extinguished in a short time, the only damage being that caused by the saturation with water of some of the manufactured articles. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

Eleventh Ward.

The following is the correct vote for city officers in the Eleventh ward:

Mayor	J. M. Brush	378
"	James Blackmore	233
Treasurer	Andrew J. Cochran	377
"	William F. McBride	228
Comptroller	Robert J. McGowan	374
"	T. W. Wright	231

A Spirited Affair.

At an early hour yesterday morning the Allegheny Police arrested a quartette of young men, residents of this city, who were indulging in an old fashioned hand to hand combat on the Butchers Run road, near its intersection with North avenue. The parties it seems had been attending a terpsichorean entertainment, which must have been a very spirited affair, judging from the high way it animated some of those in attendance. A few hours lodging in the tombs and a fine of five dollars and costs, by Mayor Drum, relieved them of their superabundant hilarity and quieted down their combativeness.

Diamond Weigh House Robbed.

The weigh house in the Diamond was entered on Wednesday evening, and a few coppers, which had been left in the desk drawer, carried away. The thieves effected an entrance through one of the side doors, for which it is supposed they had a duplicate key. The drawers of the weighmaster's desk were forcibly opened and ransacked, but nothing was secured beyond the few coppers, which were taken. The papers were not damaged, and from indications the affair is conjectured to be the work of some boys, though as yet nothing is known of the perpetrators.

Fatal Accident.

Mr. John Ramaley, while attempting to get out of the way of a train on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad, near Dam No. 1, on Monday last, fell over an embankment, and, alighting on his head, sustained injuries which resulted in his death. He was removed to the St. Cloud Hotel, where he expired at eleven o'clock Wednesday night. Drs. Le Moyne and Phillips, who had attended him since his injury, made a post mortem examination of the remains and found that the spinal column had been fractured, which injury was the cause of death. This morning Coroner Clawson held an inquest, and a verdict in accordance with the facts was rendered. The deceased was about fifty years of age.

The Democratic Courtesy to the Seventh and Eighth Ward Grant and Colfax Phalanx.

EDITORS PITTSBURGH GAZETTE:

My friend, "our Joe," the intellectual Hercules of the Post, and who, by the way, generally writes the heavy (?) editorials for that reliable, very influential, and "only Democratic sheet," has been suddenly roused to commit a characteristic act of indiscretion.

The fact is, "Our Joe" is not a very discreet gentleman. His friends frequently throw sand into his eyes just to stir his temper, and then in his mad blindness he is sure to butt his head against a wall or some other hard substance, and thus comes to grief; and, in consequence, is frequently on the stool of repentance. "Our Joe" was much gratified to find in my card, published in the GAZETTE, on Tuesday morning, that I paid my dutiful respects to the talents and peaceful disposition of the Post, and with a full appreciation of the situation, a clear field in the columns of the Post, he headlong rushed for his armor, and seizing his battle axe, still red hot from the flaming forge of Vulcan, with herculean might, he swung aloft the vengeful weapon, and with one desperate blow struck at me, the poor feeble armor bearer of Ulysses. As usual, he missed his mark, and, like Nebudchanezer, went to grass.

Poor little Joe! Formerly we were very good friends, "our Joe" and I. Somehow, Joe and I could not agree in matters political. And then the war times were too exciting for Joe, and in the many discussions we used to have, he would always end his argument with the refrain of "nig, nig-a-nig, nig, nig-ger—d—— curly headed nigger." This argument became so familiar, and so musical, that at the merry, merry Christmas times, I bethought to make our Joe an appropriate present—expressive of sentiment, (for Joe had recently married,) and also of political opinions. I found in one of the shops, what exactly suited my fastidious notions, and had it sent to his residence, on Christmas eve, with my compliments for the occasion. Joe was delighted, and thanked me cordially next day for the cradle and nig, nig-ger baby!

But then Joe and I differed, also, about the causes, conduct and purposes of the war. These were honest differences. But Joe's characteristic indiscretion, occasionally loosened his stuttering tongue, and then he would give utterance to most unexpected and unpatriotic sentiments, and by one of those sudden explosions Joe perfectly electrified several of his good friends, and created a slight "unpleasantness" between him and me. Now, when I state the circumstances, the reader can judge if I had not some cause to feel offended with Joe. It was on the occasion when Lee had defeated Pope at the second Bull Run, had crossed the Potomac and was advancing on Washington. The Union heart was sorely troubled and alarmed, and we were discussing the probable result of Lee's movement and its consequences if succesful, when "our Joe" exploded a shell right in our midst by saying "I wish to God Lee would capture Washington, and drive that d—— old babboon, Abe Lincoln, out of the Capitol." There has been a coolness between Joe and me ever since. And now, because I am not willing to remain silent and see my party friends misrepresented, and the "phalanx" (over which I have the honor to preside,) placed in a false position without speaking out and correcting the Post's false statements, and exacting of the Chronicle a fair statement of the pretended act of courtesy by the old Third Ward Democratic Club to the Seventh and Eighth Wards Grant and Colfax Phalanx; because I have published the facts, contradicted and corrected the Post, and shown that no act of courtesy was ever offered to our Phalanx by any Democratic club, or by any Democrat, our patriotic Joe—sound loyalist, and nig—niga—niger lover—has, in Wednesday's Post, given me a flaming editorial notice. Thanks, Joe. I have never been so highly honored and complimented before. But when I am editor, and you are not, then I will not forget to reciprocate.

After all this preliminary, I am in duty bound to expose your meanness and malicious purpose, Joe, in publishing what you pretend is a quotation from my card in the GAZETTE. That your own act and words may condemn you in the judgment of honest people, I will place in parallel columns my own words and the false words which you claim are mine, but were hatched by the venomous serpent within your breast:

(What I did say:)
The only basis for such a rumor, I believe, rests on the fact that on Friday night some of the Democratic citizens of the old Third ward went up to the Seventh ward and then stated to some of the citizens that they purposed offering an escort to the Seventh and Eighth Ward Phalanx, when, said citizens replied, that in their opinion the escort was not wanted. Thereupon the Third ward citizens[without making any offer,] returned to their own ward. That was all."

(What the Post quotes for my words:
"The only basis for such a rumor was the fact that on Friday night some of the Democratic citizens went up to the Seventh ward, and there offered an escort to the Seventh and Eighth Ward Phalanx."

Having set up his "men of straw," our Joe bravely demolishes him after this terrific manner:

"Now in the name of common sense we would ask what difference does it make how the offer was made? That it was tendered we have the words of Hartman, and in good faith, by the Third and Fifth Ward Democratic Club."

That's profundity. "The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse." Thus our Joe displays sense of the most un-common kind, much worse than non-sense.

It will be hard to find words in my card that admits that an escort was offered. Indeed that was just what I deny, and now reiterate, that no offer was made by any Democratic Club, Democratic Committee of citizens, or by any Democratic person, at any time, or at any place, to the Grant and Colfax Phalanx, of the Seventh and Eighth wards.

This statement I challenge the whole Democratic community to contradict, and I am sure no respectable gentleman of that party will dare do it. The whole matter is of little consequence in itself. But the principle involved is, whether truth or falsehood shall prevail. As the Republican party in the matter under controversy was the peaceful and quiet party, pursuing its way down Wylie street it was attacked and several of our men injured. In returning home, after the procession was over, our Phalanx, for the purpose of avoiding a fight in the old Third ward, went by Fifth avenue, but even then they were again attacked, on the territory of the Third ward. The important question is: "Who were the attacking party?" The Post, ever ready with most incredible audacity, declares that it was Republican "mud-larks" of the old Third ward who attacked the Republican clubs, for the purpose of making votes for Blackmore." I confess I am too obtuse to see the reasonableness of such declarations. But this insult is aggravated by a farther statement in the Post, "that the Third ward Democratic Club was going to escort our phalanx through their ward and to the Suspension bridge on the night of the procession in Allegheny City; and by their presence protect us from the assaults of the Third ward Republican mud-larks. Any one can see the drift of such remarks, and fully comprehend that they are only in accordance with the Democratic platform, "Let us have war." This, I say, applies to the Post, and wishing to have no further controversy with such unfair gentlemen, I will add a word of commendation—deserved by some of the good Democratic citizens of the Old Third Ward, who have sincerely regretted the course of the Post, and have endeavored to stop the whelming tide of passion the Post has been endeavoring to excite. Some of these gentlemen have expressed themselves freely to me, in a kind, peaceful and considerate manner, and were desirous of allaying any bad feeling that might lead to riot or disturbance between the parties. These gentlemen proposed to me, to visit our club and have a conference that would result in mutual good feeling. I advised them to do it in a formal manner, by appointment of a committee and the preliminaries were so far arranged, that on last Friday I was informed that a committee would visit our Phalanx in the evening. I directed them to call at the Franklin street School House, where I would meet them and introduce them to the Phalanx, and hear any proposition they would have to offer. They did not come, and the reasons are only known to themselves—unless they are as I have stated them above. The honest, candid reader will have discovered the animus of the Post's misrepresentations, and form a just judgment. In the meantime, our Joe, the little Bantum, had better clear his throat, and prepare for higher clarion notes. He must crow louder if he hopes to wake me from my peaceful rest. Good bye, Joe.

JOS. HARTMAN.

Bad Whisky.

It is strange, truly strange, how bad whisky affects different persons in different ways. Elsewhere will be found a case from which it would appear that Bridget Murphy had been drinking flighting whisky, and an incident occurred yesterday which would indicate that Mary Hawley had been drinding a different kind of whisky, as she evinced a desire to take things that did not belong to her. About eight o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Herbst, proprietor of the Ordinary, on Fourth avenue, happened to go up stairs into the portion of the building used as a residence, and discovered Mary coming out of his sleeping room. She had been making a thorough investigation in the wardrobe, and had in her possession some articles of wearing apparel belonging to Mrs. Herbst. In answer to questions she stated that her husband and two little girls were at Mr. Wilson's on Third avenue. After taking from her the articles she had stolen, Mr. Herbst was about to permit her to depart, when it was observed that she had on a waterproof cloak of Mrs. Herbst's. It was then decided to take her to the Mayor's office, and Mr. Herbst accompanied her thither. An investigation was had before the Mayor, when she gave her name, and stated that she was from Baltimore, and that she and her husband and two children arrived here yesterday, having come part of the way by rail and part of the way on foot. She said she got very drunk last night and could not find her way to the place where the rest of the family were. She got into the Ordinary and found her way up stairs, and thought she would lie down there until some place opened where she "could get a drink." She just wrapped herself up to keep warm in the stolen article, she said, but, how she happened to be coming out with her wrappings on, she did not explain. She was searched, and though a large number of pockets were fonnd in her garments, no other stolen articles were discovered. She did not want her husband and children brought to her, and said she would stay there and die before her husband should come there, for he would kill her. Mr. Herbst declined to prosecute, and Mary was committed for thirty days under the "vagrant Act."

Monongahela Valley Railroad Meeting.

In accordance with an order of the Commissioners of the Monongahela Valley Railroad Company, a meeting of the stockholders and corporators of the same was held at the office of Captain T. W. Briggs, on Water, above Smithfield street, Wednesday afternoon.

The first business in order was the election of officers for the company, and as the stock was largely represented, quite a lively time ensued, and considerable interest was manifested. After some delay, Messrs. B. F. Bower, of Fredericktown, Washington county; James Luse, of Fayette county, and Thomas McClelland, of Allegheny county, were chosen Judges to conduct said election. After being qualified by Alderman Nicholson, of this city, the election was proceeded with, with the following result:

President—Captain Thomas W. Briggs, Pittsburgh.

Board of Directors—Dr. Alex. Patton, Rice's Landing, Greene county; Dr. J. S. Van Voorhis, Bellevernon, Fayette county; J. S. Prinkle, West Brownsville, Washington county; West Frye, Finleyville, Washington county; Martin Briggs, Baldwin, township, Allegheny county; James Hays, Birmingham; James Gordon, Allegheny city.

The meeting then adjourned.

Alleged Highway Robbery.

Brock. Grant made information a few days ago before Alderman Thomas against James Painter for highway robbery. Grant alleges that he was walking along Smithfield street last Friday evening, about eight and a half o'clock, and when at the corner of that street and Third avenue he came in contact with Painter and several companions. They immediately, according to his statement, demanded his watch and money, and upon his refusal to deliver the same, presented a revolver at his head, threatening to fire if the demand was not complied with. Under these pressing circumstances Brock alleges he was compelled to hand them the articles demanded, which consisted of one hundred dollars in greenbacks and a gold watch, seal, and chain, valued at $192. He was then allowed to retire. He states that he is employed as engineer on the towboat Painter No. 2. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing tomorrow.

The Old Grave Yard.

We stated some time since that the late owners of the old Methodist grave yard, in the Eleventh ward, had applied for an injunction against the Commissioners, asking that they be restrained from further operatsons until the difficulties between them and the lot owners could be adjusted. Messrs. White and Slagle, attorneys for the Commissioners, filed the answer yesterday. The answer is very lengthy and denies the material facts set forth in the original bill, which were that the Commissioners had not performed the duties of their appointment in accordance with the law under which they were appointed. The lot owners will attempt to prove what they allege in their bill, and the probabilities are that many of the stories which were in circulation in regard to the manner in which the bones of the "departed" were being disposed of, will be included in the evidence. We await the result of the affair without comment, as it is now a matter for the Courts to adjudicate instead of public opinion.

Two Charges.

Eliza Humphreys is in trouble. She has been held to bail on two charges by Alderman Thomas. It is said that she went to the house of David Lewis, near Lock No. 1, and assaulted Mrs. Lewis, beating her badly. After this performance she went away and Mrs. Lewis started for the Alderman's office to make information against her for assault and battery. During her absence Mrs. Lewis alleges Eliza came back and attacked her husband with a goodly sized club, striking him several blows on the head and inflicting a deep gash thereon, from which the blood flowed profusely. For this last attack Mr. Lewis made information against her for felonious assault and battery The accused was arrested and held for trial on both charges.

Federal Street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway—The Formal Opening.

A jovial company gathered, by invitation, at the formal opening of the Federal street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway yesterday. There were Representatives of Congress and the State Legislature, city officers and Councils of Allegheny, members of the press and officers and directors of the road, numbering in all about sixty persons. Shortly before noon the excursionists, for whose accommodation five new and handsome cars had been provided, started from in front of City Hall, and, after a pleasant and enjoyable ride over a smooth and well built road, at the end of seventeen minutes, arrived at their destination, the outer terminus of the road, about midway up the valley. Here the party disembarked and employed some time in an examination of the Company's buildings and premises. During the course of the ride frequent ecomiums were passed upon the manner in which the work of building the road had been performed, and the examintion of the premises at the terminus only increased the favorable estimation with which the whole affair was regarded by all. The road is certainly one of the best constructed in our vicinity, or perhaps anywhere, and reflects the highest credit upon the artizan who had charge of it. Everybody being satisfied with the examination, the party collected again and followed in the wake of one who seemed to understand the situation. A delightful saunter over the hills, from which magnificent views of the surrounding country might be had, through noble forests, glorying in the rich and brilliant coloring which golden Indian summer alone can give, passing by sites which would have made the eyes of a real estate epicure sparkle with delight, the party at last arrived at "Mayfield," the residence of W. S. Bissell, Esq., President of the company. The spacious grounds (about thirty acres in size) at once attracted the attention of the lovers of the beautiful in nature and art, and soon groups of them were seen here and there expatiating on the palatial character of the surroundings. Becoming collected again Prof. Slack, assisted by a few of the musical amateurs present, entertained them with several patriotic and humorous songs. Again, under the guidance of the same indubitable guide, the company took up the line of march to the lawn at the rear of the house where, upon tables covered with the daintiest of linen, a feast had been spread—and a right royal feast it was.

The officers and directors of the road, at whose private expense this most interesting part of the programme had been prepared, evidently understood the effect which a healthy walk in a keen bracing air would have as an appetizer, and made their arrangements accordingly. Our gallant Congressman elect, Gen. Negley, presided with his usual happy grace and tact. A perfect repast it is said draws from humanity its sweetest smile. That repast received a smile, which was the concentrated sweetness of sixty. The substantials were ably discussed, after which refreshments followed, with toast, speech and song.

Pertinent and facetious remarks were made by Messrs. Graham, Watson, Albree, Drum, Myler, Taylor and others.

Mr. Bissell, being called upon, gave a statement of the affairs of the Company, showing them to have realized the highest expectations of the directors and stockholders.

The road is altogether out of debt and established on a sure basis, and the outlook for the future is full of promise.

These statements, with some others bearing on the same points, made by several of the Directors, were received with evident satisfaction by the entire company, several of whom, in a few well timed and appropriate remarks, congratulated the Directors on the success of their enterprise.

General Negley closed the interesting exercises by returning, in behalf of the guests, their thanks to the gentleman to whose princely liberality they were indebted for the exceedingly pleasant and enjoyable entertainment which had just been participated in, after which the company dispersed, wishing unbounded success and prosperity to the Federal street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway Company.

On motion adjourned.

National Local Preachers' Association.

The eleventh annual session of the National Association of Local Preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will be held in Christ Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., commencing on Saturday afternoon, the 17th instant. Delegates will please report their names as early as possible to W. H. Kincaid, Lock Box 310, Pittsburgh, Pa., to enable the Local Committee to provide homes, and on arrival call at Christ Church, where the Committee will be found to assign them lodgings. Arrangements have been made with the Central Pennsylvania, Northern Central, Philadelphia and Erie, and Central New Jersey, (Allentown Line) railroads, to carry delegates at half fare rates, paying full fare to Pittsburgh and returning free. Delegates from the New England States will come by the Allentown route. We are unable to announce any special arrangements with western roads, and it is possible may fail to make any, but we hope that this will not prevent our local brethren in the west from coming in full force, as the holding of the Convention west of the mountains is with the view to accommodate them, and to secure their interest in the organization. Very large delegations are expected from the eastern Conferance.

At the Boston meeting in October last the Pittsburgh Local Committee were directed to publish a programme. The following outline will give some idea of the character of the meeting, though the Committee hope to arrange and publish in fuller detail, the business of each session, and the special religious services:

I. Saturday afternoon the Convention will meet promptly at three o'clock, an organization be effected, and preparation made for the business to come before it, and also to make arrangements for the special religious services of the Sabbath.

II. In the evening, an address of welcome, on behalf of the Preachers' Meeting, will be delivered by the Rev. S. H. Nesbit, editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, followed with some remarks by Rev. Dr. L. F. Morgan, pastor of the church, to which suitable responses will be made by delegates. The remainder of the session will be devoted to business.

III. Sunday—Prayer meeting at nine o'clock, followed by a sermon from the retiring President.

IV. In the afternoon the annual love-feast will be held.

V. At night, a general meeting will take place, at which brief addresses will be delivered by representatives from the respective Conferences. The pulpits of the different Methodist churches in the city and vicinity, at the morning hour, will be occupied by delegates.

VI. Monday morning the business of the Convention will be resumed, and at half past ten o'clock will be suspended for the delivering of the annual sermon by Rev. J. McKillop, of New York, followed by the administration of the Lord's Supper.

VII. The afternoon session will be devoted wholly to business and the reading of essays.

VIII. The evening and closing session will be occupied mainly by short addresses from delegates, until the hour of nine, after which the delegates and invited guests will proceed to the spacious chapel of the Pittsburgh Female College to enjoy the reunion and banquet tendered by President Pershing and the city pastors, which, it is expected, will be an elegant affair, intellectually and socially.

Before the Convention meets the Committee hope to have a programme printed with the names of the speaker at the general meetings on Sunday and Monday evenings, and also at the re-union at the College.

A "Ruction."

Bridget Murphy is a denizen of that portion of our city known as the "Point," "where whisky is free when money is plenty," and Bridget, although the proprietress of a respectable fourth class boarding house, will occasionally indulge in a "smile," and is said by her neighbors that one "smile" will not suffice, but that she continues to "smile" until she gets boisterous. Bridget is a good "Dimyerat," and on hearing the news from the "Old Drury" that the State had gone "Dimyeratic," she concluded to "smile" and smile she did until the smile which illuminates her usually rosy face resolved itself into a grin. Bridget has a neighbor whose name is Julia Kilmurray, and for some time past these worthy ladies have not been upon friendly terms, and yesterday Bridget met Julia and called her ugly names. Julia retaliated and the "ruction" began. How it ended we are unable to say, but are inclined to believe that Julia came out second best as she applied to His Honor, the Mayor, stating that Bridget had called her ugly names, and she wanted to make her prove what she said. A warrant was issued for Bridget on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Flag Presentation.

The patriotic ladies of the Sixth ward presented a beautiful silk flag to the Sixth Ward Tanner Club yesterday evening. The ceremonies took place at the corner of Magee street and Fifth avenue, and were participated in by the Clubs of the Seventh, Eighth and Eleventh wards in addition to a large concourse of citizens. The club named formed in line at the headquarters of the Sixth Ward Club and marched to the place when, after a song by Prof. Pope, J. M. Kirkpatrick, in one of his most eloquent efforts, on behalf of the ladies presented the flag. Gen. J. B. Sweitzer replied in behalf of the club. Mr. James Onslow being present was called to the stand and addressed the people assembled in an able manner, after which the clubs had a grand dress parade on the avenue.

The occasion was a pleasant one and will long be remembered by those who had the good fortune to be present.

The Wharf Improvement.

When last writing of the improvement of the Monongahela wharf, we stated considerable damage had been done by the high water, which since the water has receded has proven to be incorrect. The injury was but slight and the damage repaired in a short time. The work of grading is progressing as rapidly as the circumstances of the case will admit of, and the paving on that portion graded is being pushed forward with all possible speed. The paving was commenced at the upper end of the wharf, and will be carried on as fast as the wharf is graded.

The wharf when completed will be one of the finest in the city. The grade will be much lighter than was at first intended, and the filling having been done gradually, the constant travel over it has rendered it very compact and solid, so that there will be no danger of it sinking after the paving is done.

A Mixed Case.

Henry Schwan made information yesterday before Alderman Thomas against Elizabeth Spadding for larceny as bailee. Schwan alleges that Elizabeth was indebted to him in the sum of five dollars, and that he brought suit for the payment of the same, upon which he obtained judgment. Elizabeth, he states, then paid the money, but afterwards learning that she could take the benefit of the insolvent laws, she came to him and requested that the five dollars be given back to her, and she would settle the case at the magistrate's office. Schwan says he gave her the money, whereupon she went to the Alderman's office, but instead of settling the bill, she at once claimed the benefit of the insolvent laws, and has since refused to refund the money or settle the case in any way. The accused was arrested and held for trial.

Street Car Wrecked.

One of the cars in which were conveyed the excursionists over the Federal street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway, yesterday, was damaged to a considerable extent by the maliciousness of some loafer, who should be severely dealt with whenever arrested. Shortly after the excursionists had left the car at the stables, a man came along and, stepping upon the front platform, let go the brake, which caused the car to start down the incline, which extends from the stable several hundred yards. There being no tongue attached to the car by which the horses could check its speed, they became frightened and started off. About two hundred yards from the stable the road makes a turn, and the apparatus when reaching this point, was thrown by its momentum off the track and over a small embankment against some posts. Fortunately the animals escaped without injury, but the car was badly damaged, the front end of the platform being stove in and the door broken. When the excursionists returned to the spot, all hands went to work and lifted the car out of the ditch into the road alongside the track. It will be put in running order immediately and placed on the road. The accident is more provoking from the manner of its occurrence, and the fellow who thus gave vent to his malicious or mischievous spirit should have a lesson taught him which would hereafter cause him to keep his hands clear of other peoples property.

Temperance Meeting.

The Allegheny Temperance League held a special meeting last evening in Dr. McMillan's Church, corner of Sandusky street and Gay alley. Dr. Hugh Campbell was called to the chair, and S. Thompson, Esq., appointed Secretary pro tem. Dr. A. K. Bell led in prayer.

Rev. Hartman then delivered an able and practical address on the Temperance Reform, in which he took the ground that the people were not thoroughly aroused in the matter, and that it rested with the moral and religious community to awaken all to a proper sense of the responsibility resting upon them.

The Reverend gentleman developed this theme at considerable length in an earnest and effective manner. At the conclusion of his remarks a vote of thanks was tendered him for his services, and the meeting adjourned.
